Subject: One question I forgot--

Could you please find out from the ballpark what happens if the game on our event day were cancelled due to weather? Would the event on the deck also be cancelled? Would the suite be cancelled? Or do we get the option to cancel and get our $$$ back? Or do they have indoor space that we could move to?

Which prompts me to a thought—if the game is cancelled and the deck is cancelled (because it is open air), perhaps we should have a plan b for the reception?

This also prompted us to think about the approach for moving delegates from the hotel to the park. We are proposing to management that guests walk—except for those with limited mobility. But if it rains, would we stil want them to walk? But if it rains, the game might be cancelled—which leads to the question at the top.

Thanks.
